

In January this year, James Skeens (29) lost his battle against cancer. James was a Community Rugby Coach working for the RFU, delivering rugby to children in schools and clubs in the East Surrey area. James had an enormous effect on the kids he coached and the teachers with whom he worked, and he continues to do this. James left behind a new wife, Jeanette, and their 7 month old son, Oliver.

To ensure that James' family has a secure future, the Oliver Morgan Skeens Trust has been set up. His friends, family and colleagues at the RFU are organising a fundraising dinner at the Home of England Rugby to celebrate his life, and to raise much needed funds for the OMS Trust. We know that James touched many people's lives, and we ask you now to pull together and help us ensure a bright future for his son - and you never know, maybe England Captain one day!
